2nd Annual Family Day at the Farm a Great Success!

Princess Kay of the Milky Way, Kristy Mussman of Claremont joined us for the afternoon.

Jackie McNamara, right, and Linda Nanko-Yeager competed in the cow milking contest with McNamara finishing a squirt in the lead.

Hundreds of visitors observed as Erin and Nathan Daninger demonstrated how cows are milked.

ON THE FARM THIS MONTH

First cutting and harvest of hay was finished in mid June. We strive for three cuttings of alfalfa hay per year, so finishing the first one fairly early keeps us on track for that goal. Due to the very dry spring yield was about half of a typical first crop, but the quality was good. It makes a nice start for next winter's forage supply.

A successful family can work together well when needed and a recent Saturday was a good example. Everyone had a role to play as we had hay to bale before threatening storm clouds moved in. Jim, a long-time staff member ran the hayrake, while Pat followed with the haybaler. Luke (19) and Nathan (15) unloaded haybales and stacked them away. Erin (17) fed and milked the cows, Mariah (13) fed and cared for the calves, while Sharlene kept the crew fed. By the time dusk fell, the hayfield was clean and evening chores were nearly done.

WHAT'S NEW

To compliment our fantastic Autumnwood beef, we now offer pork for sale. Locally grown on the Ron and Joyce Neumann Farm in Princeton.

Olympic Trail Bars and Espresso Bars from North Branch are now offered in our dairy store. All natural and made by a family business, they are a healthy treat.
